This webinar is divided in to two sessions for participants' comfort. Both sessions need to be attended to get credit for this webinar.

“On a Trajectory for Success: Constructing and using infographics to support patient education and quality clinical decision making”

4 hours of Continuing education contact hours

In-depth clinical seminars will provide virtual learning course on this topic via a webinar. Join us for our fourth Virtual Learning course of 2021 as Dr. Yakub I Patel, DPT presents:

Discussion on how clinicians can efficiently and effectively translate the information from a research article to clinical context. Infographics supplement the content and understanding of topic in a powerful visual fashion. The goal is to share a powerful visual representation of research results with co-workers, other professionals and patients to help them share and convey the take-home messages. They make excellent patient education tools, are easy to share online, and built with the intention of carrying both your brand and your message out into the world through an information-rich format.
